Housewarming in Hawaii

When I picked up my mail that morning, I had no idea of what was in store for me. Among the usual advertisements and a couple of letters was an envelope postmarked from Hawaii. This one I opened first, since I don't know anyone in Hawaii except . . . Why, of course, the letter was from Kay Nanninga, one of my old classmates. She's Kay Knudsen now, since she and Alan, another of my classmates, married and made their home in Hawaii.

The letter was in the form of an invitation. Kay and Alan had just built a new home; and they were going to have a housewarming. "It is to be a sort of reunion of the Class of 1962," Kay explained. Well, I certainly wouldn't miss that for anything!

You remember Paulette Sandrock. She and I have kept in touch by correspondence and occasional meetings over the years. A week later, after much shopping for sport clothes to wear on our vacation in Hawaii, Paulette and I settled ourselves in the plane that was to rush us to the tropical paradise for a week of fun and sun. When the stewardess came in to talk to the passengers before our flight, we both gasped in surprise. For she was none other than Donna Stringer, who had graduated with us. After graduation, she had gone to a personnel training school in Nebraska; and for a while had been employed in Washington D.C. But Donna preferred the more exciting life of an airline hostess, and so she had taken this job. We were pleased to hear that two more of our classmates had booked passage on the same flight. Of course we all recognized Fred Ericson as soon as he boarded the plane. Although he had put on quite a few pounds, he was still the same old Fred. He has made a career of the Air Force, and now holds the rank of First Mess Sargeant. We did not recognize Dick Cox when he first boarded. He had really changed a lot. When we asked him how he made his living, he told us that he owns a barber shop in the small town where he lives, and during the school term, he also drives one of the school buses.

When we arrived at the airport in Honululu, we saw Kay and Alan waiting for us. With them were Roger Lubbs and Sharon Vols. Roger now owns his own chain of grocery stores. He said that he had learned all about the grocery business from working in the local store during his high school days. Sharon is now the first secretary at the Perizzo Athletic Corporation. Kay told us that Johnnie Lefman would not be able to come, since he is now a motorcycle cop and could not leave his duties. Johnnie always had been wild about motorcycles, and he used to ride his to school whenever the weather was nice.

The rest of the guests began to arrive shortly after we reached Kay and Alan's home. Randy Carlson arrived first, telling us that he had taken time off from his duties as dean at an exclusive boys' school. He is still a confirmed bachelor. The next guests to arrive were Doris Jaquet and Beth Jensen. Doris is now a successful math teacher and Beth is a nurse, well-liked by all her patients. She and Doris still get together with their old friends, Carol Snodgrass, whenever possible. Next was Cathy Hansen, who teaches a first grade class at the grade school in DeKalb. If you go by the school at the right time, you can see her outside watching over her students at recess or gym class.

The next day, Frosty Schuneman was the first to arrive. We all recognized him right away, because we quite often saw his pictures in the newspapers in the society pages. He is a millionaire now, and I hear he still has a way with the girls. I remember in high school he had quite a few girl friends. Soon, Richard Nelson, Frosty's old-time pal, arrived. He is now a teacher at an agriculture school near that thriving community, Thomas, Illinois. After lunch, Clare Foy and Dale Sugars arrived. They had come together since they both live in Walnut, Illinois. Clare, happily married to his high school sweetheart, owns his own garage and specializes in fixing up hot rods. Dale is also married and owns the taxi service in Walnut. During the afternoon, Kay received a telephone call from another member of the Class of '62, Kaye Miller. He told her he was sorry he would be unable to attend the reunion, but he could not leave the farm because he was too busy getting the crops in. He is married now and has three children; the oldest son is just old enough to help with the chores. Paul Nordstrom arrived that evening and said he would furnish music for us. Paul is now a college band director and plays nine different instruments himself. The next day Donnie Kinsley, Gerald McCoy, and Maurice Schmidt arrived to complete the guest list. Donnie is a partner in a large cigarette firm; and Gerald is becoming a very famous artist. We all feel proud of Gerald, for we think we helped him realize his talents by letting him make posters for all our high school activities. Maurice has become a very successful dentist; and also owns three farms. Now, I think everyone must be here . . . But wait, there's the telephone. Oh, dear, you'll never guess who it is. None other than Dexter Brigham. He completely forgot about the reunion until just now!!! I hear he's a chemistry professor now. You know the joke about the absent-minded professor. Well, here it is time to leave for the states again. That was certainly the best week of my life. A vacation in Hawaii and a great class reunion all in one! Oh, by the way, I'm Sandy Jensen, I make my living as an accountant, a job which I like very well. Paulette is the head nurse at a children's hospital in Macomb; and she also likes her job very well.

The band members wish to extend a special thanks to Mr. Milburn. During the six years that he has been with us, he has done a great deal for the band. As a marching band they participated in the Santa Claus parades at Peoria and Princeton, at Bradley Day, and at half-time shows at the football games. As a concert band they presented a fall and a spring concert, performed at basketball half-time shows, and participated in the state band contest. He also directs the grade school and symphonettes bands. As you see, Mr. Milburn adds both education and enjoyment to our school life.

MANLIUS 24 TOULON 6

The following Friday, the final game was played at Toulon. Toulon showed unexpected strength, but behind Fordham's four TD's we won easily.

Dick Fordham, Junior halfback, won the Conference Scoring Championship with 84 points. He was named to the Conference First Team.

Manlius was the fourth strongest defensive team in the conference. All in all it was a very successful season. The team would like to thank all the fans who followed them during the season.

Basketball Summary

At the present time Coach Bill Jenkins' Red Devils are experiencing one of the best basketball seasons since Manlius entered the Blackhawk Conference four years ago. With five conference games remaining to be played, his team has compiled a 9 win and 4 loss record, and a 12 win 5 loss record for the season. Before the season started an expected final was published in the sports pages of the local newspapers. It placed Princeville, Galva, and Walnut as the top three teams in the conference. Wyoming and Bradford were "dark horses" candidates for the winning of the conference championship. The rest of the teams weren't even considered as challengers. Now with five games remaining Galva is first, Princeville is second, and Manlius is third.

During the Christmas Holidays the Red Devils were entered in two Holiday Tournaments. Manlius won the Wethersfield tournament which was held December 28-29, by defeating Atkinson in their first game 57-46. On the following night they won the tournament by handing Annawan their first defeat of the season 68-52. Then on January 2 they traveled to Metamora to defeat the host team by a score of 75-48. The next night they lost to Eureka by a score of 56-39.

Two school records have been broken this year. Sophomore Greg Berry broke the rebounding record held by Bob Johnson by snagging 22 rebounds during the first game with Dunlap. A field goal record held by Marv Anderson was broken by Junior Dick Fordham who made 14 out of 17 field goals in the Atkinson game.

The Junior Varsity, coached by Mr. Bourquin, are also having a very good season. They have compiled a 11 win and 2 loss record.
